“Safer Truck Guards”

In a call to action Secretary of Transportation Anthony R. Foxx said, “Americans are increasingly walking and riding bicycles to commute, run errands, get exercise, access public transportation, and save money.”

Unfortunately with this increase he states that, “...in the past few years we have seen rising numbers of pedestrian and bicyclist injuries and fatalities related to collisions with motor vehicles”

In response Allied Body Works, Inc. of Seattle has developed a truck side under ride guard that does not need to be custom built. Our guards combine safety and practicality. The design allows for installation on the majority of configurations within your fleet, and the adaptable design means that we can help create a solution, if they don't fit off the shelf.
